

Ice Theatre of New York

www.icetheatre.org

IN REVIEW '08-'09

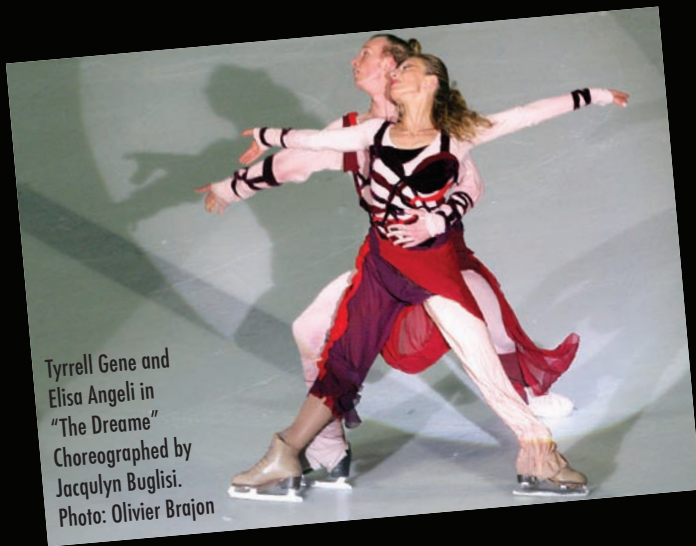

Guest artist
Surya Bonaly portraying
Josephine Baker.
Choreographed by Ice Theatre of New York.
Photo: Olivier Brajon

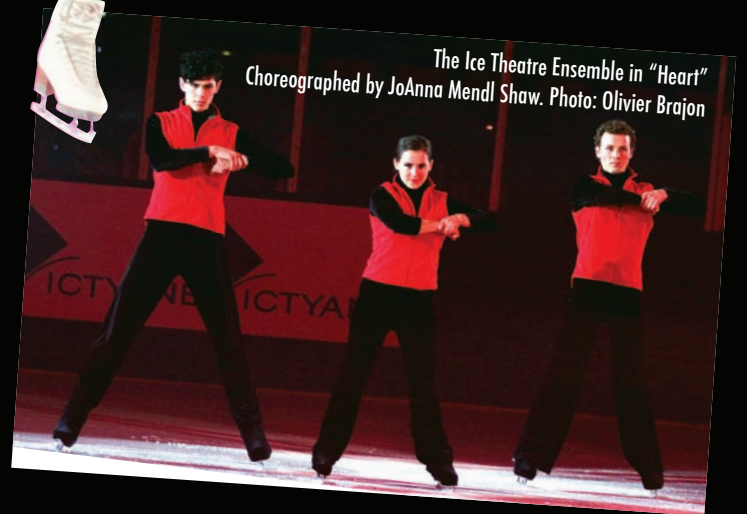

Principal performer and choreographer David Liu in "Gitano", part of "Mi Andalucia" Choreographed by Peter DiFalco.
Photo: Olivier Brajon

"The work straddles the worlds of traditional figure skating and the art-house stage. Some pieces seem like they would be perfectly at home at say, Jacob's Pillow"

— Jenny Hansell,
Learning How to Dance on Ice A New Art

Tyrrell Gene and Elisa Angeli in "The Dreame" Choreographed by Jacquelyn Buglisi.
Photo: Olivier Brajon

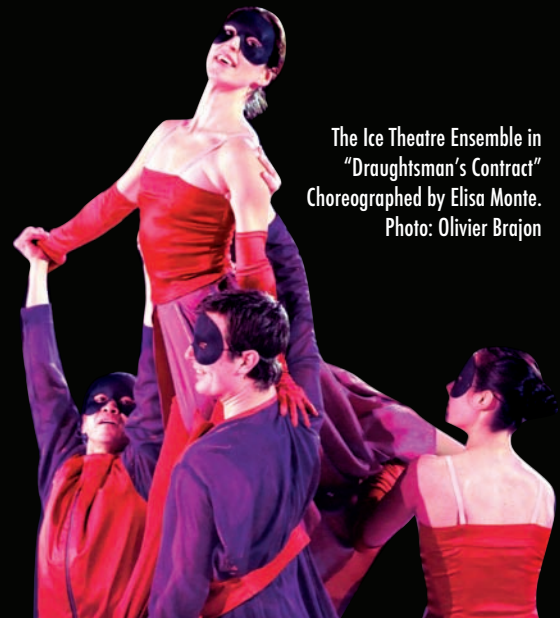

The Ice Theatre Ensemble in "Heart"
Choreographed by JoAnna Mendl Shaw. Photo: Olivier Brajon

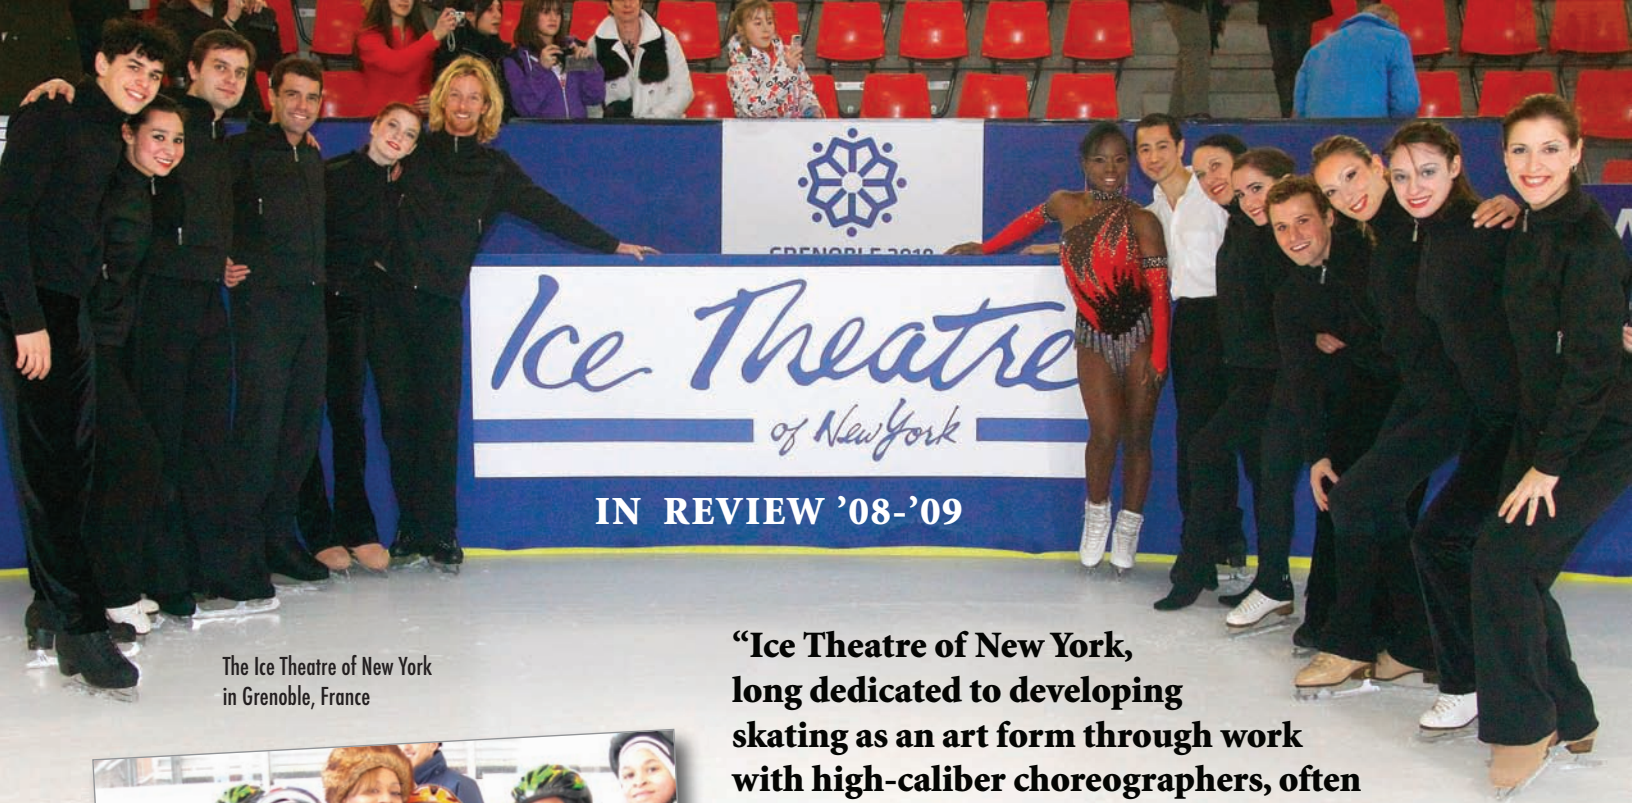

Jamie Coffey Reynolds and David Liu in "Low Duet" Choreographed by Susan Marshall.
Photo: Olivier Brajon

"Ice theatre is dynamic, flowing, risky, on the edge... it is the process and the journey that true artists live for. The exploration into unfamiliar territory, with no expectations, is exactly what makes this skating company so unique."

— Judy Blumberg
Olympic Ice Dancer

The Ice Theatre Ensemble in "Draughtsman's Contract" Choreographed by Elisa Monte.
Photo: Olivier Brajon

The Ice Theatre of New York in Grenoble, France

“Ice Theatre of New York, long dedicated to developing skating as an art form through work with high-caliber choreographers, often from the dance world, regularly proves that there are far greater, and more expressive, options when blades meet the ice.”

— Susan Reiter, NY Press

Educational & Outreach

Benefit Gala

Moira North, Paul Wylie, Nancy Kerrigan
(Honoree) and Joan Erdheim (Ice Angel)
Photo: Judith Angel

Above: Students at the New Works and Young Artists Series, Ice Theatre's Outreach Program at Riverbank State Park.
Photos: Sue Brisk

Special Events

Left: Ice Theatre of
New York at Visionaire Magazine Skating Party.
Photo: Jay Colton

“With the temperature at zero, only a rock star or The Ice Theatre of New York could bring out the crowds to open the Milford, PA Winter Lights Festival. Thank you ITNY!”

— Mike Carson, Producer

“It’s such an amazing honor to be here, to be a part of an Ice Theatre of New York event.”

— Nancy Kerrigan, IFS Magazine

Ice Theatre of New York helps light up the tree at The Rink at Rockefeller Plaza.